Accessing District and County Services

We love our community and are eager to do everything we can to sustain and improve Rosamond. As Rosamond's special district, RCSD's authority and responsibility are well defined by law. We provide healthy, safe water and sewer service and graffiti abatement. We also collect money for the streetlights, but it is passed on to Southern California Edison, which owns, operates, and maintains the lights. All other municipal services are provided by the County of Kern.

Our website, rosamondcsd.com is a great first stop if you need help from RCSD, especially the I Want To... tab of the menu. There you find a direct link to our online bill pay service and a number of self-serve forms, from reporting a leak to updating your contact information. Of course, you can always call our customer service team during office hours at (661) 256-3411, or email them any time at customerservice@rosamondcsd.com.

Contact Kern County for all other municipal services, including parks and the community pool. We have a link to the Kern County web page directory on our web page to help you. It is on the right side of the main menu as Kern County Links, right next to I Want To...

Here is also a list of links and phone numbers for different county and community services.

Household Hazardous Waste Collection Event in Mojave

We love our open spaces here in Rosamond, where unique desert plants and animals can be found. Like many desert communities, we suffer the blight of illegal desert dumping. If you have household bulky, electronic, or hazardous waste, don't dump it in the desert! Instead, take advantage of the upcoming Kern County Public Works bulky and electronic waste recycling and household hazardous waste collection events in Mojave in July.

Saturday

July 11th, 9am - 12pm

(southwest corner of Finnin & Sabovich Streets on the Mojave Airport property)

Sneaky Leaks

Sneaky little leaks around the house may not seem like a big deal, but all those drips and drops can add up to a significant amount of water waste and a substantial water bill. The good news is that almost anyone can fix leaks around their house where things connect to spigots, faucets, or other fixtures. Start by tightening loose connections. If that doesn't work, check and replace washers and O-rings, or try wrapping some thread tape around the connection. Thread tape, O-rings, and washers are inexpensive and easy to purchase at your favorite local hardware store or online retailer. YouTube can be an excellent resource for the handy homeowner, but it's always best to turn to a professional plumber when in doubt.

Public Works: Keeping the Water Flowing to You

Our public works crew is the men and women who keep the clean, healthy water you need to live, flowing freely to you! Recently, they were hard at work repairing a water line with a copper service line coming off it. We are grateful for their round-the-clock dedication to our customers!
